It's county committee election time, and this special issue of the Pennsylvania State Office newsletter is your guide to the 2010 election.

Since this only happens once a year, here is an election refresher. For election purposes, counties are divided into local administrative areas, or LAAs. Each LAA has one producer serve a three-year term on the Farm Service Agency county committee.

Most counties are divided into three LAAs. Combined counties may have three to five LAAs.

Each year, an election is held in a LAA to replace the committee member whose three-year term is expiring. In counties with three LAAs, one seat is up for election annually. In combined counties in some years, two seats may be up for election.

The three steps in the election process are the call for nominations, the election and installing the new committee member.

A table similar to the one below has been completed by Pennsylvania's County Office service centers, and shows township boundaries for the LAA(s) holding an election in 2010. Scroll to page 5 or click here to find your County and its LAA election information.
